Emergency Notification System

During emergency incidents, such as large fires, Wimberley citizens' life and property may be threatened. To help protect our citizens the Hays County Sheriff's Office has the capability to deliver an emergency message to citizens through their phone with the use of an Emergency Notification System (ENS).

The ENS is provided and maintained by the Capital Area Council of Governments. The ENS allows the Sheriff's Office to select an affected geographical area on a map, create a message, and then send it to the phone numbers associated with the address points in the selected area. The message may include incident specific information, recommended protective action or other directives.

The selected geographical area on the map in the ENS is only set up to call land line phones associated with the 9-1-1 database. However, citizens can register their cell phone numbers through a web-based application and associate the number with multiple addresses. If citizens register their cell phone number online, the ENS will then call that number if their address is selected on the map.
