Workshop

A workshop to discuss and consider issues relating to the Code Review Task Force voting requirements for recommendations to City Council

Mayor Flocke thanked the Code Review Task Force (CRTF) for its work and explained his reasoning in favor of the 4-1 voting requirement to approve recommended changes to the City Code. Task Force Chair Steve White spoke on consensus-building and the challenges of finding acceptable compromises among Task Force members. Members Roccaforte and Klepfer felt that the 4-1 voting requirement worked well to help form a strong consensus among members.

Council members expressed appreciation for the Task Force's efforts and agreement that the 4-1 voting requirement helped as a consensus-building measure.

Discussion addressed:

- Specific issues with the ordinances relating to fences
- Improvements to permitting and inspection processes
- Need for user-friendly ordinances/procedures
- Need for public education on the building permit process
- Possible registration and/or licensing of contractors
- Need for recodification

Mayor Flocke called the meeting adjourned at 5:41 p.m.
